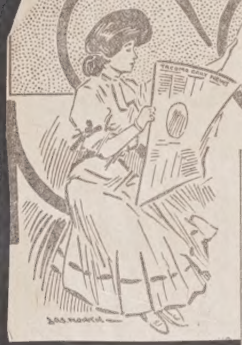
SOCIETY



A charming bit of news of the week was the announcement of Miss Lola Foard's engagement to William Campbell Smith of Tacoma. Miss Foard is an Astoria girl, the second daughter of Mr. Martin Foard, who is very well known in lumber and shipping circles of the Pacific coast, and her residence here during the past three years while attending the Annie Wright seminary, from which she graduated last June, has given her a wide acquaintance among seminary people, who have taken no small interest in the charming romance of her school days. Miss Foard was one of the most popular girls of her class, and took a prominent part in all the class and social affairs at the seminary in her senior year. Among other accomplishments she adds the charm of a very promising soprano voice.

Miss Freda Foard, an elder sister, graduated with her last June, and another sister, Miss Martha, is a member of this year's senior class.

Miss Foard will spend several weeks in Tacoma after the holidays as the guest of Miss Lura MacFarlane, when it is probable there will be a number of pretty affairs given in honor of her engagement.

The wedding is expected to be one of the charming nuptial events at Astoria, early next summer.
